SUBJECT: Basements Finished Without a Permit Policy

In order to maintain the safety of occupants and integrity of structures the following policy is adopted by the Vineyard Building Department in regards to basements that have been finished without the proper permitting.

A basement that has been finished without a building permit, that an applicant wishes to obtain compliance with State adopted codes and laws, must obtain a building permit.

The building permit application and permit will be subject to all of the same reviews, processes and inspections of a typical basement finish project. Any work that has been concealed that was not inspected must be exposed for inspection. This includes finish work, drywall, cabinetry, fixtures, lighting, appliances, etc.

Any variances to this policy must be approved by the Building Official.
