NURTURING FINANCIAL PROSPERITY: THE OBJECTIVES OF VINEYARD'S FINANCE DEPARTMENT

In the picturesque landscapes of Utah, the city of Vineyard stands as a shining example of careful financial management and foresight. Central to its stability and growth is the Vineyard Finance Department, a dedicated team working diligently to ensure the city's fiscal health. With an eye toward transparency, accountability, and prudent financial practices, this department plays a pivotal role in shaping Vineyard's future. In this article, we delve into the key objectives of Vineyard's Finance Department and explore how they contribute to the city's overall prosperity.

Ensuring Sound Financial Planning

At the heart of the Finance Department's objectives lies the commitment to robust financial planning. This involves creating and maintaining budgets that align with Vineyard's strategic goals and community needs. By carefully assessing revenue sources and expenditure patterns, the department ensures that resources are allocated efficiently to provide essential services such as public safety, infrastructure development, and community programs. Through meticulous financial forecasting, Vineyard can effectively weather economic fluctuations and unexpected challenges. Vineyard is proud to have been the recipient of the Distinguished Budget Presentation Award from the Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA) for its budgets submitted for each of the last five years. The Finance Department is currently preparing the current year budget document for submission to GFOA to be considered for the award once again.

Promoting Accountability and Transparency

Transparency is the cornerstone of effective governance, and Vineyard's Finance Department is dedicated to upholding this principle. The department regularly communicates financial information to the public through open meetings and accessible reports. Reports can be found on the city's website http://www.vineyardutah.org/210/Finance, and on the state reporting website www.reporting.auditor.utah.gov/searchreports. Detailed revenue and expenditure transparency reports can also be found on the state's transparency website www.transparent.utah.gov. By fostering an environment of accountability, residents are empowered to actively participate in the city's financial decisions and hold their officials to high standards. This transparency not only builds trust but also encourages collaborative efforts to achieve shared financial objectives.

Managing Debt and Investments

Prudent financial management extends beyond day-to-day operations to encompass long-term stability. The Finance Department manages the city's debt and investments, making informed decisions to minimize risks and maximize returns. By strategically bonding for projects, refinancing debts when beneficial, and wisely investing city funds, Vineyard can secure favorable terms and generate revenue streams that fund essential projects while also minimizing the burden of taxpayers. This approach showcases the department's commitment to safeguarding Vineyard's financial future. As of June 30, 2023, Vineyard, combined with the Vineyard Redevelopment Agency, had $64,737,995 in total outstanding debt principal (all from redevelopment agency bonds) and $44,969,375 in total deposits and investments. In August 2023, the city issued its first ever water and sewer revenue bonds that provided $15,000,000 in funding to help construct a new water pipeline and Vineyard's first water storage tank with a 6-million-gallon capacity. The bonds were rated AA- by S&P Global Ratings and AA by Fitch Ratings. All of Vineyard's deposits and investments adhere to the requirements of the Utah Money Management Act and most of the city's investments are in the Utah Public Treasurer's Investment Fund, which currently earns approximately 5.18% interest annually.

Responding to Evolving Needs

Flexibility is key in the ever-changing landscape of municipal finance. The Finance Department remains agile and adaptive to evolving needs, whether it's the adoption of new technologies to streamline processes, the implementation of sustainable practices, or the reallocation of resources in response to emergent priorities. This responsiveness allows Vineyard to effectively address unforeseen challenges while staying aligned with its long-term objectives.

Conclusion

Vineyard's Finance Department serves as a guardian of the city's financial well-being, striving to meet its objectives of prudent planning, transparency, investment management, and adaptability. Through its unwavering commitment to these goals, the department not only ensures Vineyard's fiscal stability but also paves the way for a prosperous and vibrant community for years to come. As the city continues to grow and evolve, the Finance Department remains a steadfast partner in shaping its financial destiny.

For the City's new Community Works plan, we are looking for your feedback every month on what is working and what isn't. In September as you travel and recreate through the City, what things are you noticing that could be improved? Take the survey here. Please use this survey to share your concerns with our team by providing us with information about what you see we need to address in our parks, trails and park strips. If you would like a response on the progress of your concern, make sure you leave your phone number or email.

ADU LICENSE Q&A

Each single family home is limited to 4 unrelated persons OR a family. If the property is occupied with the owner as a primary resident, and zoning allows, an Accessory Dwelling Unit license may be obtained. Please note that HOA's may have stricter occupancy regulations.

An ADU license allows for an additional 4 unrelated persons or a family to occupy an accessory structure on the property.

Do I need an ADU license?
An accessory dwelling unit is a living space, separate from the homeowners for an entity to occupy. An entity can be a family or 4 unrelated persons.

The most common ADU's in Vineyard are basement apartments. If you live in a home that you OWN in Vineyard, and you're renting out the basement / have a detached living space with renters, an ADU license is required.

What if I DON'T live at the property I own. Do I still need a license?
No. Split renting when the homeowner IS NOT a primary resident is restricted. Split renting is having two separate entities living on the same property. One entity is considered a family or 4 unrelated persons.

Example: Having 4 college students in the top half of the home and a married couple living in the basement when the homeowner is not a primary resident, is restricted.

If you're a homeowner that's moved away and you'd like to rent your house, city code requires the ENTIRE home to be rented to only ONE entity.

Example continued: To fix the occupancy violation mentioned above, compliance would include arranging all 4 college students OR the married couple move out.

Civil penalty fees up to $100 per day can accrue when this section of code is violated. Zoning Code 15.34.060
